How Speculative Sharpers Feel the Public. New York Letter in Buffalo Express

There is renewed excitement in the stock market, and a rise from 10 to 50 per cent. is generally predicted. I have always noticed that when the great gamblers had loaded up at the lowest figures, and by the various methods known to them quietly engineered a rise of 10 to 30 per cent., they suddenly take the public into their closest confidence. Previous to that they are dumb as oysters, and affect a listless, cynical air which induces the small fry to go steadily short of the market. But as soon as the market has risen satisfactorily their enthusiasm breaks out like a pent-up Vesuviu-, Tney rush wildly in and out of the exchange, are apparently buying thousands of shares, and constantly stumbling over the reporters and money editors of the daily journals, to whom they impart the exciting news that 'We are going to see one of the greatest advances, sir, that ever took place at the Stock Ex-change." Strange to say, the public will believe, year after year, any statement that a successful stock gambler makes to an interviewer, and obligingly buy all the stock he has to sell. That is the game now being played, though I think there are two or three stocks which will not merely go higher, but stay there. I compared notes this morning with an old friend who is one of the keenest and best bankers in Wall street, and he said: "I have been all wrong on this market for two weeks. It did not seem possible that prices could with reason or safety be moved higher, yet now it wou'dn't surprise me to see them still further narked up. I have just made a toan, though, of $500,000 for sixty days at 6 per cent. Money is going to be much dearer, and it will be very tight about April, and if that don't knock prices nothing can."

Blowing the 119: n.

The Athens (Ga.) Banner reports hat many years ago Athens had a law forbidding the sale of liquors in quantities less than a quart. Whenever a man came along and bought a quart he could not, of course, drink it all, so the bar keeper would go to the door and blow a blast on a cowhorn, and the loafers all around town would hasten to help the purchaser dispose of his quart. When, by any chance, a gallon was use to hurry so, he's got a gallon."

THERE have been but eight re-United States senators whose terms us with a call, to give them bargains are about to expire. Of these, four are about to expire. INAUGURAL stories are all the fashion just now, and the Springfield Republican recalls this good one :

Garfield is being bothered, too, about the inaugnration arrangements. Mr. Lincoln was asked which he preferred of two programmes. Throwing one leg over the back of his chair, the sensible backwoodsman told "a story." "When I was practicing law in Illinois a client of mine, a peculiar sort of fellow, was brought before the court, and the Judge select him: "Do you swear or aften?" 'Mr. Judge,' my client replied the terms a dama which."

Men who come here uninvited to ask for official favors or to prepare the way for future requests, materially injure their prospects by so doing. Indeed, it is said by knowing ones that a private secretary is employed in making an alphabetical list of all office-scekers who come to Mentor, and when the time somes for the fdistribution of patronage, so man whose name is found in this list will have the remotest chance of getting anything.

Iowa is a loyal State. Elijah Gish, who was a violent Copperhead during the war, run for sheriff in Shelby county last fall. Somebody overhauled his war record in the Harlan Herald. Gish got mad and sued the Herald for libel. The case was tried and the Court formed the verdict thus: "Do you find that the plaintiff, Elijah Gish, during the rebellion, from 1861 to 1865, was disloyal to the United States?" The jury said "Yes," which left Gish with the costs to pay and a very bad name.

ONE of the correspondents at Mentor who is more of a practical turn of mind then most of his kind that are not apt to let the facts embarrass them, has been making a calculation as to the cost of advertising an active Ohio politician. For this purpose he very properly selests Charley Foster as a specimen, now the excellent governor of that state, the United States senate, and favorably mentioned as a probable member of the cebinet. He figures it out that Foster has cost the newspapers more than a quarter of a million of dollars to adver-tice him. He says:

During the ninety days of cabinet discussion it is safe to say that 1,000 spers average 100 words each day in their special dispatches concerning that man and his prospects. There is an expense of $1,000 a day for telegraphing on that man's account, or $90,000 for three months. The special correspondents must be paid also, say half a cent a word, which makes an addition of $500 a day, or $45,000 for the period of ninety days. For advertising in the reading matter 10 cents per line would be a low estimate for the thousand papers. The 100 words devoted to Foster would occupy about twelve lines. In 1,000 papers twelve lines at ten couts per line would amount to $1,200 but to this is to be added half as many lines of editorial devoted to the same subject, and 20 cents per line would be a low price to pay for auch editoral netices. Here, then, we have an additional item of $108,000. The waste of time and vitality which millions of in dellars and sents. Let us tabulate the structure which are tangible, and we find the cost of advertising Charley Factor in 1,000 newspapers daily for a period of three mouths is an follows:

THE END OF JULESBURG.

Juleaburg is no more. Juleaburg

originally was on the south side of the Platte river, in Colorado. As a town it became a place of importance to trappers, gold-seekers and freighters, and it grew into a city of adobes. The government recognized its importance and built Fort Sedgwick for its protection, but in '64 the Sioux and Pawnees nurned it to the ground. About that time the Union Pacific line had crawled out along the Platte to a point opposite the destroyed city, and so the people of Julesburg moved across the river, rebuilding Julesburg at the railroaders camp. Then it was that Jules-burg reached its greatest height of no-toriety and importance. Within an incredibly short space of time it increased its population many thousands. A half dozen stage lines traversing the country west and south in every direction made it their terminal point, and hundreds of freighters transported sup-A Market bedent sends this ples from it to the Territorica west. In the changes that will take place in the Senate, the Democrate will be greatly the losers both in number and aggregate ability. They lose four of their ablest men, Thurman, Wallace, Eaton and McDonald. Two of these have been prominently mentioned in connection with the nomination for the Presidency, and one of them. Thurman, is universally regarded as the leader of his party in the Senate. The Democratic loss is greatest in the retirement of Senator Thurman. He is the only Senator on the Democratic side who can successfully hold up his end of the argument in an off-hand contest with Conkling, Blaine or Edmunds. Intellectually the Democratic side of the chamber is inferior to the Republican side, and this inferiority will be very marked after the 4th of March, for the Democrate lose their brainiest men. On the other hand, the Republicans will suffer no conspicuous loss except in the retirement of Senator Blaine, who is said to be booked for the Cabinet. Senator Thurman has the respect and esteem of all, and no man of that party in recent years has left the Senate whose re-

Last evening Master in Chancery Brown ordered that a writ of habeas corpus be issued by Circuit Clerk McCiellan in comteam of horses attached to a farm wagon pliance with the petition of John, Thomas and William Carroll, who were covicted at the December term of court for violating the liquor law, and sent to the county jail by Judge Smith in default of payment of the heavy fine assessed against each of the offenders. This morning the writ was served upon Sheriff Foster requiring him to appear before Judge Wilkin at Danville, and show cause while he holds the prisoners named in custody. This noon the Sheriff and the Carroll boys left for Danville, accompanied by I. A. Buckingham and Thomas Lee, counsel for the prisoners. The arguments will probably be heard by Judge Wilkin this evening. The Blue Hound Whisky Case.

For the past three days the case of The People vs. Henry Schwab and John Kokendifer has been on trial by jury in the county court before Judge Greer. The defendants were charged with selling intoxicating liquor without license in the town of Blue Mound, and the information filed against them contained 49 counts. Over 30 persons were subpoensed to testify in the case, but not all of them were needed. Yesterday evening, after the arguments by the opposing counsel, the case was submitted to the jury, and after a brigt deliberation a verdict of guilty on 39 counts was returned against each defendant. Both prisoners were committed to the custody of Sheriff Foster, and this morning a motion was entered by the defendants for a new trial and an arrest of judgment. Henry Schwab is under bonds and at liberty. Kokendifer is in iail. The arguments for Decatur admirers of the celebrated French | a new trial will be heard by Judge Green

Reduced Prizes for Alico.

The agent for the Alice Oates Grand English Opera Company has been induced to put the prices down to 35, 50 and 75 cents, without extra charge for reserved seats This is really a reduction, for they are charging higher prices in every city around us, and Mrs. Oates has always charged stiff prices here on former visits. I is to be hoped that this reduction in prices will be appreciated and that everybody will go, see and hear the charming Alice and a fine company next Monday night. Seats new on sale.
